The Noted Author and Dramatist Cannot Live the Week Out.

RELATIVES CALLED TO HIS BEDSIDE

The Brilliant French Writer a Victim of Cerebral Abscess-His Marvelous Success Early in Life and His Prolific Contributions to Dramatic Literature.

PARIS, Nov. 2) -Alexandre Dumas, the di-tingm-bel author and playwright, is seriously iii The physicians in attendance upon him at first thought he was suffering from a violent attack of neuralgia, but later they recognized graver symptoms The Petit Parisen says that Dumas was seized on Saturday with cerebral congestion and that Dr Pozzi diagnosed it acerebral abscess. The patient, it is added. has been in a comatose condition since Sunday evening His physicians do not think he can live longer than a week. His relatives have been summoned to his bed-

Alexandre Dumas was born in 1824 in Paris, and at an early age he was placed in the Souteaux institution, where he made marked progress almost from his entrance. When only 17 years of age he wrote a number of poems, which were published in a volume in 1817, entitled "Les Peches de Jeunesse." This work has almost been lost sight of, and possesses little literary merit, although there are some pleasing lines.

After having accompanied his father on a journey to Spain and Africa he wrote a fantastic book called "Aventures de Quatre Femmes et d'un Perroquet." In 1848 he wrote and published "La Dame aux Camelias." His fame was instantaneous. The almost youth of 24 years became at | once one of the most famous litterateurs in Europe. This novel, and the play taken from it, have been translated into every civilized language.

In 1852 Alexandre Dumas, fils, began to write for the stage. "La Dameaux Camelias" was his work, dramatized from the novel by that name. Its success was even more pronounced than that of the book It is said that when the elder Dumas saw the performance he said, while tears of joy, not unmingled with wounded pride ran down his cheeks: "It seems that my son at 24 was a better dramatist than I am

Alexandre Dumas is by ordinary French law of succession, Marquis de la Pailleteric. Some thirty odd years ago Alexandre Dumas married a noble native of Finland -Princess Narischkine, nee Knarring-by whom he has had two daughters-Colette. married about fourteen years ago to M. Maurice Lippmann, and Jennnine, who married the Comte de Hauterlye in 1890. Jeannine resembles her father greatly in character and intelligence, while the eldest sister takes more after her famous grandfather, the author of "Monte Cristo."

The children were brought up in a strict way. Alexandre Dumas does not believe that young girls should enjoy much liberty. His two daughters were never allowed to go to the theater or to balls. Up to the day of her marriage Mile. Colette had gone to last one evening party, and but twice to the theater, on both of which occasions tra celes were played. But since she has become a mother Mme. Lippmann goes everywhere, reads everything, sees everything. She copies her father's man useripts and frequently criticizes them. And the father often profits by the observ-

Cornett Determined Not to Fight.

LINN. Moss., Nov. 24.-James J. Corbett, in an interview today, said: "I am disgusted with the entire business, and henceforth will e infin-my enterprises to the stage. The public may say that when Lwhipped Failivan he was an old man. and that I never whipped a good man in my career, but I am fully determined in my purpose to quit. I bestowed the championship upon Maher because he is an Irishman, and because I prefer he should bear and defend that title, rather than place it in the custody of either an Autralian or an Englishman. I consider Peter Maher the per of any man in the ring, and have no hesitancy in saying that he can whip Fitzshminons. He is a great man, and he will one day demonstrate his right to bear the title of champion of the

Two Children Meet Death by Flame. New York, Nov. 26 -Mrs. William C Collins, compring a flat in West Tenth street left her three children locked in the rion while she went on a shortermud vesterior. In her absence the children made a fire on the floor with some news papers, their elothing became ignited, and Lallian, 5 years old, was burned to death while Willie, 10 months old, was so baddy injured that he died last night. The third child, 4 years old, was only slightly burned. The fire did but little damage to the building.

Hannigan Goes to the Asylum. New York, Nov. 26.- David F. Hannigan, who was acquitted last Thursday night of the murder of Solomon H. Mann. on the ground of insanity, was brought before Justice Ingraham yesterday. The court denied the motion of counsel for the defense to discharge Hannigan, and committed him to the state asylum for the insane at Poughkeepsie. He will be examined in the regular way by the asylum physicians and if pronounced sane, his discharge will follow.

Palmer Defeats Plimmer.

LONDON, Nov. 26,-Before the National Sporting club last night "Pedlar" Palmer defeated "Billy" Plininer in the contest for the 112 pound championship of the world, the battle lasting fourteen rounds. The club was so crowded with members and visitors that some of those in attendance almost fought for seats. Plimmer was a hot favorite in the betting.

A FATHER'S TRIPLE CRIME.

Asphyxiated His Two Little Children and Then Shot Himself.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 26.—After killing his two children by asphyxiation Herman Hattenhorst, 35 years of age, a boxing in-structor, committed suicide by sending a bullet crashing through his right temple. No cause is assigned for the deed other than despondency over business matters. The bodies were found early yesterday morning in the rooms used by the man to give hoxing lessons, on the second floor of 1255 Broadway.

Hattenhorst resided with his wife and two children, Viola, 6 years, and Hazel, 2)4 years, at No. 1103 Greene avenue. His married I fe was a pleasant one, from all accounts. The father after dinner on Sunday suggested that he take the two chilaren out for a walk. How long they walked is not known. They did not arrive home in the evening, and Mrs. Hattenhorst became alarmed. At 11 o'clock, unable to bearthe suspense longer, Mrs. Hattenhorst notified the police.

An officer was sent with her to her hus-band's place of business. Hattenhorst was found dead with a revolver by his side. The bodies of the two children were found in a closet used for vapor baths, where the little ones had been placed while living, probably having been first made insensible with chloroform. Into the box a tube connecting with the gas pipe was inserted. The children had died of asphyx-

The wife and mother is so prostrated with grief that it is feared she cannot recover. In intervals between fainting spells Mrs. Hattenhorst said that there had been no domestic difficulty between herself and her husband, and that she thought he must have become temporarily deranged over business troubles. Hattenhorst, although an ex-pugilist, bore a good name.

To Remove General Hancock's Body. WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.-It has been decided to remove the body of Major General Winfield S. Hancock to Arlington cometery from Norristown, Pa., where it has rested since 1886. None of the projects to erect a monument at Norristown has succeeded, and a committee has succeeded in securing the consent of members of the family to the removal. It is planned to have the burial in Arlington take place next spring, when a monument to General Hancock on one of the public squares in Washington will be dedicated.

Rivermen Jubilant,

PITTSBURG, Nov. 26.-Rivermen are jubilant. The general rain of the last forty-eight hours has brought the river up to a barge state, and a million bushels of coal, divided into seven tows, started for the south this morning. The rains continue, and knowing ones are anticipating a boating stage very shortly. If this should prove true some of the largest tows ever seen leaving Pittsburg will be put en route. There are $5,000,000 bushels-twice as much as was ever before accumulated here at one time-ready to be moved.

Dispensary Profits for the School Fund. COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 28.-In the constitutional convention last night a section was adopted in the educational article giving all of the dispensary profits to the school funds except that portion which is allowed to counties and municipalities. It is expected that this fund, with the three mills school tax, will support the colleges and enable the public schools to run five months and leave something over. A very rigid section was passed against appropriating any money to sectarian institutions of any kind.

INNOCENT ARMENIANS.

Turkish Reports of Their Aggressions Contradicted.

ALLEUROPE WOULD STAND AGHAST

Were the Full Reports of the Consuls Given Out for Publication-Further Confirmation of the Reports That the Massacres Were by the Saltan's Orders.

BOSTON, Nov. 26.—The following letter has been received in Boston from a reliable torrespondent in Constantinople: "The Turks have induced some of the subsidized European papers to speak of these crimes as Armenian outbreaks, but the ambassadors have full reports which they ought to publish, that refute all this, and show conclusively that the sultan, within a day or two after he signed the reform scheme, ordered the Armenians to be massacred in order that there should be no question of an Armenian majority in any of the provinces. The people flew on the spoil, and so did nor execute the sultan's wish to the full. But the loss of life has been awful. Moreover, there seems no way of preventing more of the same sort.

"It is the most awful crime of the contury, because it is so persistently falsified by its authors. Everywhere the story is the same—a deliberate preparation, and then a story sent to Europe that the Armenians attacked the inoffensive Turks. and were reduced to order after a few had been killed

"Worse times are in store for us. Europe is divided in counsel, and the Turks, finding that nothing is done for this crime, will go on to extremities. The highest Moslem court has declared that the sultan cannot lawfully be restrained in the exercise of his will, since he is the representative of God for the whole earth.

From 15.000 to 20.000 people have been cruelly slaughtered during the last month, and in consequence no less than 190.000 persons heretofore dependent on them for their daily food are now in want. The coming winter will witness a vast amount of suffering. It is not alone at Sassonn, but all over the land where these occurrences have taken place."

All Europe Would Stand Aghast. LONDON, Nov. 26 - A dispatch to The Daily News from Constantinople, giving a general resume of the situation, declares that the recent massacres put the earlier outrages of Sessoun and Moush entirely in the background. If either England, I rance or Russin should publish the stories reported officially by the cool headed consuls all Europe would stand aghast at the proof, surprised to think such things possible. Wherever these consuls have investigated matters they have found that the accusation that the Armenians provoked the riots is false.

Gaining Signatures by Compulsion. VILNNA, Nov. 26 -It is known here that strenuous efforts are being made throughout the Armenian provinces to compe clergymen and prominent persons by threats to sign addresses to the sultan declaring that the Armenians provoked all the outbreaks. It is claimed that the one which recently appeared from Erzeroum was procured in this fashion,

It was fully expected that he would sufficiently recover to be married in the church, as annonneed, but late yesterday afternoon his physicians advised that he would be inentring serious risk of pn armonia by Faving his room. Only the immediate members of the families were present at the ceremony. The wedding reception took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller at 12:30, as previously announced

Nebraska Solpt for McKinley.

New York, Nov. 26 -S mater John M. Thurston, of Nobraska is at the Fifth Avenue hotel. In an interview he said "The Republicans of Nebraska are for McKinley for the next presidential candidate first, last and all the time." "Do you think the Republicans will by able to organize the United States senate at the coming session?" the senator was asked "Yes," he replied, "I believe we will be strong enough to assume control. I believe that all of the Populat members of the senate will vote with the R publicans this session."

Attempt to Poison a Priest.

SHAMORIN Pa . Nov. 25.-Rev. J. Jackimowicz, of the Polish Catholic church in Mount Carrael, narrowly escaped being poisoned at the early Sunday morning mass. A quantity of Paris green had been placed in the wine vessels from which he is in the habit of drinking during the service. Fortunately the powder was visible on top of the wine, and as a previous attempt had been made on his life the reverend gentleman became suspicious, and did not partake of the wine

Breckinridge Will Try Again. FRANKFORT, Ky , Nov. 26,-Colonel W

C. P. During the late campaign Colonel Breekinridge stumped the district for the Demogratic state ticket, and everywhere drew immense crowds.

DUEL WITH A FUGITIVE.

A North Carolina Sheriff Gets the Drop on a Desperado.

Goldsbono, N. C., Nov. 26.-At the September term of Wayne county court Jesse W. Bunn, a notorious white man, widely known and feared throughout the county, was convicted of a criminal offense of an incestuous nature and sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment. Soon afterwards his son visited him in jail and conveyed to him a file, and within a few days thereafter, and when only about ten days of his sentence had been served, Bunn filed his way out and made his escape, carrying another prisoner with him. Sheriff Scott made several attempts to surround Bunn with a posse, but without effect.

Bunn swore that he would kill any of ficer who should try to arrest him. On Sunday the sheriff drove out near Bunn's home and soon saw his man driving along the road with his wife and son. Sheriff Scott called to him to surrender, but his only reply was a persistent effort to get his gun leveled on the officer, who, from his bugzy, calmly watched the gun of Bunn as it came to a deadly aim, and then the sheriff fired.

Bunn returned the fire, and then, dropping his gun, grabbed his pistol, but fell back dead before he could use it. Bunn's feet in falling got caught in the springs on the road eart, and his body hung dangling head downward. The sheriff was fully exonerated by the coroner's jury.

The Defense of Hyams.

Tononto, Ont., Nov. 26.-In the Hyanis trial yesterday the defense considerably strengthened its case by evidence tending to prove an alibi on the part of Harry Hyams. M. H. Ramage testified that he was with Harry Hyams at the time it is claimed Wells was killed. A. J. Sardipey, a barber, swore that on the morring of Wells' death Harry Hyams came into his shop and was shaved, several minutes after Wells is supposed to have been killed. Hyams was perfectly composed, and nothing in his appearance would indicate that he had been in any way excited. John Neil, Joseph Jessimine, M. Collins and R. Westcott also gave testimony positively asserting that Harry Hyams was not at the warehouse at the time when the crown alleges Wells was killed.

A BIG BATTLE IN CUBA.

The Battle of Taguasco the Largest Yet Fought.

THE INSURGENTS VICTORIOUS.

For Thirty-six Hours the Government Troops Were Held in Check, and Were Finally Driven Back by the Arrival of Reinforcements Under General Maceo.

New York, Nov. 26.-A. Cuban messenger, who arrived at the Cuban junta last night direct from the seat of the revolution, reported that on Nov. 19 one of the largest battles that has been fought since the beginning of the present trouble with Spain took place. The news has been withheld strictly, the correspondent of F. Heraldo, a Madrid paper, not being allowed to send it out even.

The battle occurred at Taguasco, a town in the interior of the island. The Spanish forces consisted of 10000 men, while the Cubans had but about 4,000. The Spaniards were led by Generals Valdez, Luque and Aldave, and General Maximo Gomez was at the head of the Cubans. The Cubans had a most favorable position at the bottom of the hill. For thirty-six hours the opposing forces fought, but the Spaniards were unable to drive the Cubans back. The latter, however, could do no more than hold their own. Finally just at a critical moment, General Autonio Marceo, of the Cuban army, came rushing in with a force of 3,500 men. With the aid of this reinforcement the Spaniards were quickly routed. The Cubans advanced then toward Trinidan and Cienfuegos.

General Aldave is reported to have been killed in the battle, and the total number of killed and wounded is placed at 600. General Gomez secured 700 rifles and a large amount of antmunition.

This is believed to be the largest battle of the revolution, larger than that of Bayamo, several months ago, in which General Campos was wounded.

CLEVELAND AND CUBA. Report That the President Will Urge the Insurgents' Recognition. Washington, Nov. 26.—President Cleve-land's friends in Washington and elsewhere, with whom he discusses public questions, continue to assert that the forthcoming message to congress will contain a chapter on the foreign policy of the administration that will be a great sur-prise to the public. The leading topics to be discussed in this chapter will be the Venezuelan boundary dispute and the Cuban revolution. The surprise, it is said, will be occasioned by the president's announcement that with regard to these questions the administration has taken such advanced ground in the direction of a vigorous assertion of American rights as to amount to a complete reversal of its foreign policy up to the time that Mr. Olney became secretary of state. All that is definitely known with regard to the administration's attitude towards the Venezuelan question is that some time during the past summer Secretary Olney addressed a communication to the British government containing an emphatic notification that the United States would expect to see the Monroe doctrons respected, and would, unleed, insist upon its application to the controversy between England and Venezuela with regard to the existing boundary dispute.

As to Cuba, the admistration has taken no steps in a littion to the ill advised letter of Attorney General Harmon giving it as his anoin ral opinion that the American people would be doing an unfriendly activate, olly power in taking part in public meetings called for the purpose of expressing sympathy with the cause of the Cubm revelutionists. Judge Harman has since admitted that his letter was written without sufficient thought, and that in it he rook ground that he is now willing to

It is now asserted that the surprise propared for the public is nothing less than an expression of the president's hearty sympathy with the efforts of the Cubans to obtain freedom, and a further intimation that, in the opinion of the administration, they should be recognized as beiligerents.

KASSON'S GOOD IDEA.

IT HAS BROUGHT ABOUT UNIFORM IN-TERNATIONAL POSTAL RULES.

The Next Convention of the Universal Postal Union Will Be Held In Washington In May, 1896-Something About the Work Then to Be Done.

Of all the co-operative schemes that have been set in motion by mankind, it is probable that the world's postal system, everything considered, is the most satisfactory in its operations. So accustomed, however, have we become to its almost perfect workings that we marvel not daily at the astonishing fact that for a paltry 2 cents a letter may be sent to any part of the United States and for slightly larger sums to any part of the earth; that the amorous epistle of the lover, the important communication of the business man, and the dainty social missive, no matter how long may be their journey, are all quite as safe as if sent by the hand of a private messenger, protably safer, and surely, as a rule, delivered more promptly.

Like many another of our highly prized modern institutions the postal tery recent date. For thousands of years mankind got along without any postal system at all For thousands of years ordinary letters were carried by whomever chanced to be journeying in the direction they must be sent. Extraordinary letters, those upon business of the state and the truly great of the earth were sent by carriers. The first of these two methods was very uncertain and the second altogether too expensive for general adoption, and hence it fell out that few, even of the "classes," wrote often, while, among the masses, he who had in his life written and dispatched a half dozen letters was a rare exception. But as the enlightenment of the masses, infectionlike, spread from land to land, the world's postal system was developed. First, letters were regularly borne from place to place for hire by common carriers; then, little by little, governments took up letter transportation, and, by 1860, each nation had a complete postal system within its own borders

Still there was no uniformity of rates between nations, and in 1862 John A. Kasson, then in congress from Iowa, suggested to Postmaster General Montgomery Blair that the complexities and inconveniences of international mail delivery might greatly be lessened by the holding of a world's convention of postal officials. This seemed well to Mr. Blair, and he, in turn, mentioned the proposition to William A. Seward, then secretary of state. He communicated with the postal authorities of various nations and so many favorable replies were received that on May 11, 1863, the first postal congress began its sessions in Paris, delegates being present from 15 countries, chiefly European. Though but little was accomplished by the deliberations of that first congress, the ace was broken, so to speak, and the way paved for more fruitful sessions in the future. During the next six years the United States authorities did a lot of postal reformatory work by dint of pure American plack, persuasion and perseverance—a trio that will often win when well handled. By 1870 reductions in postage between the United States and some half hundred other nations had been effected. The rate to Germany was cut down from 28 cents to 7, that to Great Britain from 24 to 6, etc. In 1874 a second postal congress was held, this time at Bern Switzerland, representatives of numerous governments being present, and organizations being effected under the title of the General Postal umon. Very much was accomplished at this gathering, most important perhaps being the adoption of a uniform half ounce letter rate of 5 cents or 25 centimes, and 1 cent or 5 centimes for each two onnces or 60 grams of printed matter. In 1878 at the third congress the name was changed to the Universal Postal union, and provision for registration was made, and at still subsequent congresses held in London in 1885 and Vierna in 1891 other improvements were adopted. The next congress is to be held in Washington in May, 1896, and Edmund Hochn, the director of the international bureau of the Universal Postal umon, with headquarters at Bern, Switzerland, has recently visited the United States in order to make preparations for the coming gathering.

The chief objects of the international bureau of the union are to gather and publish all sorts of information concerning postal mattem, to arrange differences between postal authorities of various countries, to disseminate information regarding new rules-in short, to act as a soit of clearing house for the world's postal business. One of the things to be considered at the coming congress is the proposition to reduce the international rate to 2 cents a half onnce, another the proposition for an international postage stamp, and another the adoption of a written constitu

Calomel was discovered by Crollius in the seventeenth century, and the first directions for its preparation were given by Beguin in 1608. Its name is derived from two Greek words, signifying "a beautiful black," because in its preparation a block powder is the first step in the manufacture, being produced by rubbing increary together with corrosive sublimate.

The Illinois river was so termed from the Ill.m, a tribe of Indians on its banks. Another derivation is suggested in Isle any Norg, island of Nuts. Several derivations more or less fanciful are suggested by the etymologists and geographers.

O MANUAL OF THE CONTRACT OF THE

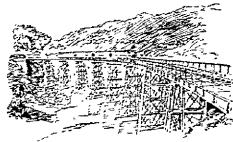

FROM GULF TO OCEAN

MEXICO'S NOW RAILROAD ACROSS THE ISTHMUS OF TEHUANTEPEC.

It Took Pourteen Years to Build It at a Cost of $10,000,000, and It Crosses the Sierra Madre at a Comparatively Easy

Without doubt the Tehnantepec railroad, extending due north and south across the isthmus of that name which forms the narrowest part of Mexico, will eventually come to be regarded as one of the world's most important lines of transportation. It was finished about a year ago, is 122 miles long and, although its line lies along the least difficult route across the Sierra Madre mountains and from ocean to ocean between Guaymas and Panama, a distance of nearly 2,000 miles, its construction was not accomplished without overcoming some very considerable difficulties in engineering. The northern, or gulf, terminus of the Tehnantepec line is Coatzacoalcos, and the southern, or Pacific, port is Salina Cruz. At the latter place there is a fine open readstead for ships, with plenty of water, while at Coatzacoalcos there is a superb harbor with a hard clay bottom and no sand bars, and the Coatzacoalcos river for 30 miles above its mouth has a continuous depth of 40 feet, which renders nunecessary the heavy lighterage expenses which are such an important item at

The Tehnantepec road was projected and built by the Mexican government, which proposes to expend $15,000,000 in improving the harbors at the two terminals, and it is believed that after these harbors have been deepened and fitted with proper docks and other facilities for loading and discharging cargoes, the new interoceanic route will be sought by a large portion of the commerce between Europe and California, between Atlantic and Pacific ports of the United States and between most Atlantic and gulf ports and ports on the western coast of Mexico. In addition to this there is every probability that much of the commerce between Europe and the far east which now goes by way of the Suez canal will also be diverted to this route, and that practically ail European trade with Chile, Peru and Equador will follow along the same line.

It is feared that this will prove of serious damage to the Panama railroad, since, although the Panama railroad is less than one-fifth as long as the Tehauntepec line, the use of the latter will shorten the distance between New York and San Francisco, for instance, by about 1.500 miles, and between most important European ports and China by about 700 miles. While probably it cannot be said that it will shorten the transportation to most South American ports, ver the superior depth of the harbors at the Tehanntepec terminals, enabling ships to unload directly to the railroad ears and dispensing with lighterage, as already explained, will no doubt make it a more desirable line of commerce to the south of the equator.

The territory through which the Tehauntenec railroad runs is of a highly interesting character. At the southern terminus, Salina Cruz, the greatest altitude is about 700 feet, and the line reaches north from there, nowhere encountering very severe grades, through a natural breaking down of the mountains to the waters of the Uspanapa, which flows into the Coatzacoaltees. The country through which these rivers flow is level and low lying, its soil is exceedingly fertile, and it is covered with a luxuriance of tropical vegetation that is nowhere surpassed. All through this territory there are extensive plantations of eacan, from which chocolate is made, and of coffee trees, which are cultivated and cared for by copper colored descendants of the Aztecs, whom Cortez found in possession when he landed upon Mexico's shores. Much capital from the United States has already been invested in the coffee industry, and upon one plantation, owned by an American company, over 400 native laborers work during the entire year. The temperature of the region is singularly equable and delightful everywhere, save close to the shores, the thermometer never rising above 92 degrees and never falling below 60.

It requires five years to bring a coffee plantation into bearing, and after that the average yield of each tree is between three and four pounds annually, or from 1,800 to 3.200 pounds an acre, since from 600 to 800 trees are planted upon each acre. The wages paid to laborers are not high, the head of a family carning from $5 to $7.50 a month, while the children work for from 25 to 35 cents a day through the picking season of December and January.

These natives are a remarkably primitive but not at all savage lot. They live upon bananas and other native fruits, and they are satisfied with clothing made of coffee plants, but they are good natured, obliging, honest and courteous, and a stranger is invariably safe in their hands. The men are well built and strong and many of the women are comely, with features chiseled after Caucasian types.

It cost about $10,000,000 to build the that its proprietor, the Mexican government, will reap a profit from its operations, since it must acquire a considerusing Orange Flower Balm. 25 cents, able local traffic as well as the heavy through freight mentioned at the beginaing of this article.

C. MACARDELL, JR., - BUSINESS MANAGEE

TUESDAY, NOV. 26, 1895.

The Bethlehem Iron Company received, yesterday, from the Russian government an order for 1,126 tons of armor for the new battlaship Rostislay. The order was secured in competition with fourteen other armorplate manufacturers, most of them in Europe, and is therefore proof of the ability of American steel makers to more than hold their own in price and quality against the world.

The Press, alluding to the State Treasurer's report, which shows expenditures of $736,524 in excess of income, says this "state of things was what led to the higher State tax this year," which is interesting, if not important, as the first admission we have seen in our esteemed contemporary that the tax rate is higher. The Press's contention all along has been that the 3.24 tax rate was a Democratic campaign lie, and so consistent has it been in maintaining this proposition that, it will be remembered, it even edited "Rate 3,24" out of the Comptroller's official notice to Orange county raisa its share of the State tax. The Press, however, is not exactly honest when it tries to lay the blame for the empty State Treasury on the Democrats by charging that, while in control of the State government, they failed to raise enough money for current expenses. There was no deficiency when the Republicans came into power, and since the last two Legislatures have been Republican in both branches, exactly where Democratic responsibility for the empty treasury comes in is not apparent to any one except the palitical editor of the Press, who sees everything with a vision jaundiced and cockeyed by partisanship.

I'wo Lives Saved,

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill. was told by har doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr, King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thos. Eggers, 139 Florida St. San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching Consumption. tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful effieacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Relief Asked from Oid Assessments-The Eugineer Ordered to Catalogue Maos-Eric Ordered to Fix the North Street Crossing -Area of Assessment for the North End sewers Fixed-Excelsions Truck Accepted - Fire Committee to Provide Horses-North Street Pavement Accepted - Other

An adjourned meeting of the Common Council was held at the Corporation Rooms, last evening. Present, President Dorrance and Aldermen funnell, Close, Sinsabaugh, Mance, Hirst, Reed and Abrams. Alderman Bowler is at present living in Yonkers, and the Third Ward is therefore represented by but one alderman, Mr. Hirst. The minutes of privious regular and special meetings were read and approved.

Mr. James Lynch appeared before the Council in regard to an assessment against a piece of property belonging to his mother. He claimed that his father had performed labor for the city and that the late Mr Pronk, who was President of the village at that time, had made several promises to have the matter adjusted, and the amount due for his father's labor, 28% days, credited against the assessment. Referred to the Law Committee to report at next NO RELIEF GRANTED.

Petitions were received from Mr. Henry Morey and Mrs. Sarah C. Lee, begging relief from assessments for "Prince street improvements" made in 1890. The assessments were found to be all regular, and upon motion of Alderman Sinsabaugh the petitions were laid upon the table.

The Lighting Committee was in structed to inquire why the light at the corner of Watkins avenue and Prospect street was not kept lit.

Upon motion of Mr. Hirst the City Engineer was ordered to make a catalogue of all maps in his possession and file the same with the City

TELEPHONE RATE WAR DECLARED

The Hudson River Company Soon to Cut Rates in Middletown-Will Pay People to Use its Instruments if Necessary to D > Up the New Company The Latter Ready for the Fray. Mr. H. E. Hawley, of Albany. General Manager of the Hudson River Telephone Company, and Mr. L L Quackenbush, of Roundont, District Superintendent of the same company, are in town to-day with blood in their eyes, and announce that it is their intention, within two weeks. to make a cut in telephone rates, that will make the rates announced by the new Orange County Telephone Company seem like the rankest extortion.

If the new company has "money to burn" and meets this cut. the Hudson R ver company will go lower, and if the new company feels that it is able to furnish telephone service for nothing, the Hudson River company will be willing to pay people to use its telephones. In other words the Hudson River company, believing that it can furnish better and tained, the Council authorized the cheaper service than any rival company, proposes to protect its interests in other places by making such and areas to be assessed are as fol- a holy show of the Orange county company that no same man in the Hudson River district can ever be tempted to invest even a counterfeit nickel in a telephone company. On the other hand, the Orange County Telephone Company claims that it knew that the Hudson River people would quit robbing the public as soon as soon as they had to. Its officers say that as soon as their lines are complete they will have control of the telephone business in this city, and that they are not afraid of people being hired to use the Hudson River instruments, for it was never possible to reach anyone by that line. It is an interesting situation, and the outlook is better for the general public than for the holders of telethone stock.

A BARGAIN.

There was a slight tap on the door, and Miss Hardaway entered the library with a little rush. She looked anxiously round and then made a step toward me. I dropped my Kinglake on my knee and looked at her. Evidently she had come on some pressing basiness. She looked rather excited; also a trifle nervous." "Mr. Tyson?" said she. "Miss Hardaway?" said L "I-I want to have a talk with you about—about something which"— She hesitated. "Certainly," I responded amiably. "Won't you sit down?" She sank into a chair opposite me and regarded me with dubious eyes. 'I hope you won't think it extraordinary of me," she said in a sort of stammer, "but I wanted your assistance." "If I could do anything," I observed, to reassure her, "command me." She averted her eyes and fidgeted with a book upon the table. "You see," she explained, "it's rather delicate." I nodded. "Exactly," I assented. "And -and I don't know, but I'm sure it'sit's rather dreadful." "Good," said I. "Things are so flat, as a rule." "You will probably say 'No' at once," she went on, "and I'm sure I don't blame you." "I should like to have the opportunity, at any rate," I said, with a smile. She started and half rose in her chair. "I'm afraid I've interrupted you in your reading," she exclaimed. "I—I only came in on the impulse. It's really nothing." "Now," said I, lying back in my chair benignly, "you positively fire my curiosity." "No," she said, shaking her head. "It was nothing. I only"— I leaned forward and touched her arm. "Miss Hardaway," I said earnestly, "what, you would rob a poor old fogy of his only consolation—that of advising others? Fie' I think you owe me some thing for the studious way in which you have avoided me lately."

It seemed that I couldn't have said anything more to the point, though heaven knows I had no idea what the dear girl wanted. "Avoided you!" she said. "No indeed. If you only knew. That's what''- Here she came to an abrupt pause. "I should very much like to know what that is," I said after waiting for a moment. I suppose I looked at her kindly. Perhaps I beamed henevolently. Old fogies do. At any rate she seemed to take courage, and sank once more into the depths of the armchair. "I have been very much worried lately," she exclaimed, with a sigh. I ncdded comprehensively. "It-it was that that made me come rushing in here," she went on. "I-I was determined not to stand it any longer." I waited politely. "It's that young Mr. Urquhart," she said, with an appealing glance at me, as if I should now under stand all. I understood nothing, but I lifted my eyebrows. "Really!" I punc tuated. "Yes," she resumed, taking fresh courage. "He is a frightful nuisance. He follows me about everywhere." She paused, and as I seemed expected to say something I remarked that it was very importinent and that he ought to know better. "You see," said Miss Hardaway, "my aunt wants it." I really did not comprehend what her aunt wanted, but I did not say so. I only pinched my expression into greater intelligence and sympathy. "And now that we are down here, he takes the opportunity of-of pestering me, andand-well, Aunt Catherine encourages him." "Ab," said I, pulling my mustache, "that makes a difficult situation, doesn't it?" "And I thought you might help me," she ended with a plaintive shot from her eyes. "I, my child?" I asked in wender. "But how? I should be delighted, if I knew." Miss Hardaway said nothing. She appeared to have exhausted her confidence and sat tremulously in the armchair, as if she would like to leave it. "Tell me how you thought I could help you," I said. "Shall I take him away and drown him?" "Oh, no," she ex-claimed eagerly, "I didn't mean that!" Of comise I did not suppose she had meant that, "Well, what was your ideal" Lasked. "You see," began Miss Hardaway, "it is difficult for me, with Aunt Catherine as my chaperone And she likes Mr. Urquhari." "Of course it is, "I assented. "Well, do you want me to chaperon you? Is that it?" Now I examined her. She was really a very pretty gul and particularly so when she blushed. She blushed now as she said: "You see, Mr. Tysen, I thought-it was very importment of the -- but you know I was driven out of my senses by the stapid-by things. And I hought, perhaps"- She he stated. "You are a great deal older than Lam, aren't yeu?" "Bless you, yes" I answer d. "Twenty years, at least. I might be your father. " All the same, it was not nice to feel that, somehow But Miss Hardaway was icheved—eased over her difficulty, perhaps I should say. "Yes, I thought so, and that was what made me so indeas to think that you-that 1-that we might pretend, you know," she stammered. "I will precend anything you like, child," I declared. "Will you really "she asked eagerly, "Certainly," Lanswered. "That we are engaged?" she asked, hanging on my words.

I will confess that I was somewhat staggered, but in a second I chuckled to myself. "Most certainly," I said. Miss. Hardaway's eyes looked gratifude. "I knew you would be kind," she remarked. "Then that will get rid of him, you see," she added. "Yes, I suppose it will!" I assented. "Then that's all settled," said she rising suddenly to her feet, "and now I must go. It is so good of you, Mr. -- ." "But stay," I interrupted, rising also. "Let us understand what our programme is to be. You will tell Aunt Catherine?" "I am going to tell her now." she said firmly. "And—and what are we—how are we"— "Oh, you must welk about with me a good deal," she said. "But won't that rather bore you?" I caked deprecatingly. "Oh, no," said Miss Hardoway frankly. "I like you. Besides it's better than Mr. Urquhart." The compliment was not strained. "And I am to call you"—I queried. "Oh, you must crill me Hetty," she returned promptly. "And you must call me"-- I began. "Ohe I think I'll call you just Mr. Tyson," she observed after a pause. "But do you think-don't you think"- Miss Hardaway considered, frowning. "I don't think I can call you. What is your name, Mr Tyson?' she asked. "Paul," said I meekly. "I know it's not a nice name.'' "Oh, it's not so bad," she said reassuringly, "only-all right. I'll call you that, and now"- "But is there nothing else?" I asked. "Are you sure we mustn't do anything else?" "Oh, no," said Miss Hardaway confidently. "We're just engaged, you know." and with the flutter was not quite sme how it would turn out in practice. Yet it seemed to answer well enough, as far as she was concerned. My services were in requisition the very next day. We walked together in the garden, and really it was not a disagreeable walk. As we turned a corner Miss Hardaway suddenly touched my "Here he comes," she said hastily. "Please do something." I had no idea what to do. "To show him," she explained impatiently and then hurriedly seized my hand. We strolled away like this till Mr. Urquhart passed. I hope it convinced him, but I could not help feeling rather foolish. Then Miss Hardaway paused. "Please, go now," she commanded. "I have promised to go out with Miss Vale." It was quite strange to be ordered about at some one else's will, and as I went back to my books I vaguely wondered if this was a fair sample of matrimonial experiences. There was no call made upon me till the following afternoon, when I was requested to take Miss Hardaway for a short stroll on the cliffs. "We must keep up appearances," she explained. It was very pleasant on the cliffs, and there we met Mr. Urquhart once more. I bastily seized her hand, but she drew it away from me with decision "Don't!" she said. "I thought I had to do something," I observed hambly. "Oh, no," she said in a vexed voice, "don't you see there's no need now?" I didn't see, but I took her wood for it. All the same I regretted t.$: there was no need. I had had no idea that she was such an attractive girl. It appears that only Aunt Catherine and Mr. Urquhart were supposed to know, but I was sure the whole hotel was in the secret. I came to this conclusion from the persistent way in which we were left to gether. If we were seen in each other's company, we were conscientionsly avoided, and people indulgently left the room in order that we might exchange confidences. Miss Hardaway noticed this at last. She did not seem to have anticipated it. "What do they do that for?" she asked pettishly. "Oh, they suppose we want to be alone," I answered cheerfully. "How foolish!" said Miss Hardaway frowning. "Don't you went to go to your books?" she said suddenly. I did not, but I took my dismissal and went. Later that day Miss Hardaway sought me. "I think, Mr. Tyson," said she, "that we limb better stop this precense nov. Irla .crved its turn." "Well," said I, "if you are quite sure that Mr. Urqubart and Aunt Catherine will not resume" - She shook her head, "I am not atraid of that," she said boldly. "Very well," said I, "then we had better think out a way. Of course the engagement must be broken. But who is to do it?" "I, of course," said Miss Hardaway in surprise. I passed the paper knife between my fingers reflectively. "That is of course the proper way," I answered, "but it may leave you open to a difficulty. You see, if you break with me, people will believe that you never really cared for me, and that will encourage Mr. Unquiart and Aunt Catherine. She but her hips. "I never thought of that," she said. "Then you must break it." "Yes, I must break it, but on what grounds?" I asked. "Conkhi't you say that you had made a mistake, and really cared for some one else?" she inquired. "But I don't—I mean, would that be quite fair to you, you see?" Miss Hardaway puckered her brow, "Put it on the grounds that I interfere with your work," she suggested, "and that you are wedded to that," "But you don't," I objected, "and besides I don't care if you do, and goodness knows. I don't want to be wedded to that always This apparently was a new idea, for she regarded me carnestly for some moments, and I believe she was examining the lines in my face. "I'm not so very old," I murniured. Miss Hardaway made no reply, but glanced out of the window. Then, "I shall tell Aunt Catherine that it was broken off because of your work," she said pensively. "I shall deny a," I protested, "I don't see why it should be broken off at all." After a minute's Filmee the said in a lower voice, "It's such a misance to you." "It isn't," I declared. "I don't mind. J-let it go on. I'm not so very old, and it's the only time I shall be ongaged. Let me enjoy it while I can." Miss Hardaway was silent. "Come," said I, taking her hand, "you wouldn't grudge me a little pleasure, would you?" Miss Hardaway laughed a self embarrassed little laugh, "Pleasure?" she echoed, "Certainly," said I promptly. "A pleasure which, alas, can never be more than a shadow for an old fogy like me." She looked at me timorously. 'I don't think you're an old fogy," she said. I made to draw her nearer, but she disengaged herself and slipped gently to the door. On the threshold she paused. "I-I won't say anything to Aunt Catherine," she said, with a pretty little laugh.—H. B. Marriott-Watson in New Budget.

Just Like a Woman.

A young and well dressed woman entered Charing Cross telegraph office the other day and wrote out a dispatch to be sent to Mauchester. She read it over. reflected for a moment, and then dropped it on the floor and wrote a second. This she also threw away, but was satisfied with the third and sent it off. The three telegrams read:

Despair.

The only man at the summer hotel speaks. Oh, thas!

Oh, perfect bliss! And kiss, I wouldn't miss For forty moments such as this!

For still My will Is good.

But in this man solitude My strength, though great, I- quite madequate To meet

The wild, tumultuous swirls Of levely, sweet, Or levely, sweet, Insistent summer girls. Those eyes of black, Those eyes of bine. Those eyes of gray,

The golden hair. The black and brown, The sunset red,

And bazel bue:

And auburn crown Of womanhood; those soft, white hands, No fellow better understands Than I do how to press, As I confer-Oh, gentle dove-

It's just as easy to try One Minute Cough Cure as anything else. It's easier to cure a severe cough or cold with it. Let your next purchase for a cough be One Minute Cough Cure. Better medicine; better results; better try it. W. D. Olney

The market is full of cough mixtures, but one trouble with most of them is that when they do a little good the patient has to take so much that he gets to loath the taste. The Pineola Balsam is superior to other cough remedies because it is agreeable to the palate and its good effects are immediate. In a few days an ordinary cough is gone altogethers Bronchitis and asthma are more stubbors, but they too are cured by Ely's Pinecia Balsam. A remede worth trying. Twenty-five cents is all it cost.

A Baby's Life Saved.

ADDISON, N. Y., April 8, 1894.-Hand Medicine Co.:- "I feel it my duty to write you in regard to my little daughter's sickness from teething and indigestion. She is seven months old. Two of the best physicians gave her up. One bottle of Dr. Hand's Teething Lotion relieved her so much that we tried Dr. Hand's Colic Cure also, and at once saw a change for the better. These remedies saved my baby's life.-Mrs. Wellington Brown." Dr. Hand's Colle Cure and Dr. Hand's Teething Lotion sold by all aruggists, 25c.

Relief in Six Hours

Distressing Kidney and Bladder diseases relieved in six hours by the "THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN KID-NEY CURE." PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS IN ANNUAL SESSION.

A. C. Sutherland's Omeial Bond Approved-Town Tax Levies-Hamptonburgh, Middletown and Wallkill Dis. own an Unfortunate-A Disputed Matteawan Asylum Bill. Goshen, Nov. 25, 1895,-After the session of the Board had been regularly opened, this morning, Mr. A. C. Sutherland, Superintendent of Poor elect, presented his bond. It was referred to the Law Committee, who reported it as correct, and the clerk was ordered to approve it and file it with the County Clerk. The bond is for $20,000, and the sureties are Amos W. Sutherland and Carroll D.

On motion of Mr. Patterson the matter of selecting a keeper at Orange Farm in place of John P. Moneil, resigned, was made a special order for Wednesday morning at 11:30 o'clock.

Town tax levies were ordered as Minisink-Audits of $555 and $100 for roads and bridges. Cornwall-$250 for roads and bridges and $200 for temporary relief of poor. Wallkill-$2,160 to pay principal and interest on bonds. Woodbury-Audits $872, $100 for temporary relief of poor, and $500 for roads and bridges.

Warwick-Town audits $2,863.76. On motion of Mr. Patterson a draft for $200 was ordered to Mr. Rivenberg for incidentals and expenses as School Commissioner.

Mr. Webb stated he had a bill to bring before the Board. A bill had been presented against his town for $25 for board of a young man who had received a broken leg in his town and was kept there five weeks. He said the injured man was not a resident of his town, and he brought the matter before the Board for action. Mr. Iseman stated that the injured man lived at Middletown at the time of the accident, but had not lived there long enough to acquire a residence under the interpretation of the poor law. Mr. Thompson also admitted that just previous to the time of the injury he had lived in Wallkill. There was a general diccussion of the question, and it was finally referred to the Law Committee to read up the law and lay before the Board an interpretation of the provisions of it, when this case would be decided and a precedent estab lished for future cases of this kind.

The Matteawan Incane Asylum presented a bill for board of Ira West, Eugene Hulse and H. M. Per-rip, three insane criminals. The amount was $122. Mr. Bradley stated Monday at the State Hospital, and it inmates were State charges and toat | prepare a fine spread for the boys board. He thought the matter About fifty of the members of the Hismit No. 110-" The Lord keep watch between should be referred to some one for of Mr. Wilson the matter was sent to | to say that a good time followed. John B. Swezsy, Esq, the attorney for the State Lunacy Commission, with the request to report his conclusions to the Board.

The afternoon was devoted to committee work, and the Board adjourned until 11 a. m. Tuesday.

THE FOUNDRY OFFICE LOT SOLD

Bought by L. S. and J. D Stivers-1 Business Block to Be Erected.

Through the real estate agency of Mr. A. V. Boak, the vacant lot. corner of King and Foundry streets, has been sold by Mr. Frank M. Stratton to Louis S. ann John D. Stivers. editors and publishers of the Times. The lot is sixty-one feet front and extends eighty-seven and one-haif feet on Foundry street.

It is the intention of the purchasers to at once have plans drawn for a three-story brick block, which it is hoped to have completed some time next summer. The corner will be occupied by the Times office, which will be elevated from the sidewalk to a sufficient height to enable the basement to be also utilized for printing purposes. This will leave two stores 18x85 feet each on King street to be leased for business purposes. The second fl or will be divided into effices and the third floor into living aportments.

In the rear of the building will be an eighteen foot alleyway, which will be of great advantage to the storerooms, both in furnishing light to them and for loading and unloading goods.

The sale also includes the privilege of the use of the sexteen-foot alleyway extending in the rear of the stores on North Etreet to the alley between the Crawford Furniture Company's store and that of Bross & Munday, thus giving a passageway from the rear of the new Times building to North street.

Old People

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whickey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts midly on the etamach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electrie Bittera is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old People find it just exactly what they need. Price fifty cents and $1 00 per bottle at McMonagle & Rogers's drug store. | McMonag's & Rogers.

A SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ocane Celebrate the Twenty-21th Anniversary of Their Marriage.

From Our Johnson Correspondent.

About a week ago, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Doane sent invitations to their many friends and neighbors to be present at the twenty-fifth appiversary of their wedding, on Friday evening, Nov. 22d. That Mr. and Mrs. Doane are very popular goes without saying, and about 150 people responded to these invitations. Among those who came to share their hospitality were: Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Sayer, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Doane and daughters, and Mrs. Webb Harrison, of Middletown; Mr. Island; Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith, of Mount Hope; Mr. Justus Clark and hef." nlece, of Unionville, and Mr. Herbert Smith, of Johnson.

As Mrs. Doane and daughters have superior culinary capabilities, their table was replete with good things and all fared sumptuously. Ther, as Halstead's orchestra was present to furnish the music, the dancing began and was kept up until a late hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Doane were the recipients of many handsome and useful presents.

After an evening of pure erjoyment the guests departed, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Doane many happy returns of their wedding anniversary.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

George Lancaster, of Colchester, Found Bead by a Neighbor.

From Our Up-Midland Correspondent, George Lancaster, who resided in Colchester, Delaware county, between Rockland and Cook a Falls, was found dead in bed by one of the neighbors, Sunday morning. Deceased was about seventy-seven years of age, and had resided alone for some years past.

It will be remembered that a year ago last June, he was shot and wounded in the leg by George W. McAdams, his neighbor, who is now serving a sentence of five years in Auburn Prison for the offense. The old man had been in feeble health ever since he received the bullet in his leg. There can be no doubt but that his death resulted from general Rusticus. debility.
